About SecuSeal Tapes

Signwell offers various layouts of reliable SecuSeal Tapes, also called Security seal tape or warranty void labels. These are made of tamper evident destructible vinyl. When using this SecuSeal Tape, you can quickly see if your goods have been tampered with. It shows the “OPEN VOID” hidden security message as soon as the warranty tape is removed from the surface of a carton box or other applications. These SecuSeal Tapes seal off and provide extra protection.

Our SecuSeal Tape can be applied to a large range of surfaces including paper, card, metal, glass and many more. Void tapes are mainly used for forensic intelligence investigation, military, banking security, aviation security, medical packaging seals, electronic goods protection and other.

How to use SecuSeal Tapes

SecuSeal Tapes help you to reveal tampering or unauthorized access. High value goods need to have a security/safety seal. This seal protects the luxury goods from theft and fraud during shipment and storage. Our SecuSeal Tapes reveal the hidden security message when tampering has occurred. Even if someone tries to replace it, the void tape will show that an individual attempted to break into it.

SecuSeal Tape (open void tape) provides the best solution when evidence is required of tampering. Our guarantee seal or guarantee tape provide a visible indication of attempt of removal. After removing, since most of adhesive remains on the surface (and little to none on the tape film), the tape film cannot be reused, which is an added security feature against unauthorized reuse of the tape.
